

New signage to recognise Service Clubs

After being approached by the Corryong Rotarians to participate in a community based project, Council is very pleased to join forces to deliver new Service Club entry signs in Corryong. The Corryong Lions will partner with the Rotarians in this joint project.

Towong Shire Mayor, Cr David Wortmann said 'the current Community Service Club signs at Corryong have well and truly passed their use-by date'.

Council has met with the Rotarians to discuss the design of the signage and preliminary drawings have been prepared. 'The signs will be predominantly stone and iron and will complement the silhouette and stone signage already in place at the town entrances', said Cr Wortmann.

Cr Wortmann thanked the Corryong Rotary Club for approaching Council and the Lions Club for also coming on board. 'The new service club signage will be an attractive and much welcomed addition to the Corryong town entrances' said Cr Wortmann.

Council very much values the work of the volunteers in our communities and recognising our Service Clubs with the entrance signage is one way we can remind people of the importance of these clubs and the selfless volunteers in our communities.
