What does 'Our Future' look like to you?

---

What are the priorities Council should focus on over the next four years?

That's the question Towong Shire Council will be asking residents as it urges them to attend a series of workshops designed to guide Council's planning to 2020.

Six workshops will be held throughout February and March in towns across the Shire. The workshops are a chance for residents to advise Council on what is important to them and their communities.

Towong Shire Council Mayor Cr David Wortmann said residents' participation was vital to shaping Council's plans and priorities for the future.

"We are hosting a series of workshops and we want to hear your ideas for the future of our Shire. If you live, work or study in Towong Shire, then we want to hear from you," he said.

"We have a new Council and we're keen to continue delivering great outcomes for our community. We want to make sure our strategic planning reflects the views and needs of our residents."

"It's a chance for residents to have their say, let us know what is important to them and what their priorities are so we can incorporate them into our future planning."
