Have your say on the revitalisation of The Triangles

Ideas to revitalise The Triangles will be brought to life as the Destination Tallangatta project moves into its final stages.

Council is developing draft plans to revitalise the prized public space based on input gathered through previous consultation forums and ongoing community feedback.

Council is seeking input via an online survey and a community workshop to determine whether previously stated priorities are still current and what new ideas should be considered.

Community members will have an opportunity to have their say by considering things like:

- pathways and pavilions, seating and shade;
- updates to the toilet block;
- potential sites for the Sandy the Warhorse statue;
- possible uses for the Information Centre;
- ways to create more space for large events; and
- improving safety around the playground area.

Cr David Wortmann said The Triangles revitalisation is an important final stage of the Destination Tallangatta project.

“We’ve been gathering suggestions for upgrades to The Triangles since the Tallangatta Tomorrow masterplanning process in 2011, and throughout the Destination Tallangatta works,” he said. “Work to The Triangles will really bring together a project that has made a huge difference to Tallangatta.”

Cr Wortmann said that along with final streetscaping and the Shopfront Revitalisation Project, improvements to The Triangles will signify completion of the Destination Tallangatta project.

“I congratulate the Tallangatta community on the vision they created for Tallangatta. It is a joy to now see the outcomes of their vision.”

Community members can provide feedback via the online survey available on Council’s website until 27 October or via print surveys are available at the Library.

Community members are also invited to attend an open-air community workshop on Sunday November 3 in The Triangles from 10.00am.
